ENGINE OIL COMPANIES IN UAE

Now the times come to change the oil that is very much necessary for driving and safety for our customers. But the point is we need to know some things like which oil is essential for which vehicle. As we see the today engines are more powerful and small. Like if you driving a muscle car so that full synthetic motor oil is beneficial for the protection of your engine or if you use older cars or any other vehicle you may use older and conventional oil. That is very economical point to know that what engine oil is use for what purpose. For the safety of our engine firstly we have to maximize the filling level of oil. Too much little oil and much more oil both damage the engine badly. if there is too much oil it may damage the catalytic converter because it may get into burning cell or if there is too much little oil then metal rubs on metal that enhance the chances to damage the engine
